What is FullDive

FullDive is a platform for virtual reality that connects with your smartphone. This allows the user to have easy and affordable access to a new world of media. You can watch videos like in a movie theater, stream YouTube videos like they have never been seen before, and even check social media from a completely unseen angle. Gone are the days when you need to be sitting in front of a screen to watch a movie. There's no need to be paying thousands for a large television set to enjoy the movies you love.

Mission of The Future

Our mission is to create 3D virtual reality glasses that connect to your smartphone, so it's easy for developers and users to use. We want this to be available and affordable to every person who owns a smartphone.

Founders Ed and Yosen are bringing this vision from the tech capital of the world, Silicon Valley. With humble backgrounds, the team is passionate about giving the VR experience not only here, but also to third world countries that can't afford expensive kits. FullDive will be there in the near future.

Play With the Future

FullDive's software works with smartphone technology to display a much larger screen in virtual reality glasses. The screen is split into two images and displayed for each eye to create a cinematic 3D view, all from your smartphone. We currently have developed FullDive Video and FullDive YouTube app. More features will come out soon, such as FullDive Browser where you can browse websites in a VR experience, and FullDive Market where you can access all VR apps from other developers.

Access The Future of One World

FullDive allows the average user in any country to access the future and enjoy media like it's never been seen before. Our mission is to spread VR to everyone in this world.

MEET THE FULLDIVE TEAM

Our humble team is a group of four smart and driven people. We are focused on success and building a community around our futuristic virtual reality unit. We are incredibly passionate and enthusiastic about bringing FullDive to everyone with a smartphone.
